The company has been producing emergency vehicles for over 60 years, which are sold both on national and international markets.

In order to improve even more the quality of the product, and also to make the sales process easier, Jacinto Marques de Oliveira, Sucrs, Lda has started the MAN certification program, which allows bodybuilders to become known in the MAN world, operate worldwide to the same standards and that improves cooperation MAN partners.

Obtaining MAN international bodybuilder certification is a complex process, that involves demanding quality inspections and MAN Compliance inspection, but that brings bodybuilders clear advantages, such as new advertising possibilities, improved sales structure and simplified order processing, simplification of the processes and a close relationship with MAN on an international level.

“Our preference for MAN is due to the great quality and reliability that the brand has always shown over the years”, says Eng. Jacinto Oliveira, CEO at Jacinto. Another of the reasons that led the company to go forward with the certification process was “the flexibility MAN presents, primarily in terms of client proximity”, adds Eng. Jacinto Reis, Manager at Jacinto.

The delivery of the international MAN bodybuilder certificate took place on the 16th October, in Jacinto Marques de Oliveira, Sucrs, Lda premises,
